Why Dairying Pays

Every man who is trying to get anywhere wants to have something to say about the conditions under which he works. He wants to be able to use his brains and his energy to change those conditions to his own advantage.

Did you ever stop to think that the grain farmer has little or nothing to say about the conditions of farming which surround him? From the wet, cold ground in the spring to the drouth and heat of summer, the hail, the hot winds, the bugs and the frost, he is at the mercy of the seasons, the prey of the elements, the victim of chance.

Sometimes he wins. More often he loses. But he never is in control of the conditions which surround him and his business. Success with him is a gamble and we have been finding out of late years that the gambler's chance is a small one.

The dairy farmer, however, as he gets his farm onto a dairy basis, lifts his business out of the realm of chance. He gradually comes to have the power to control, at least in some degree, the conditions which surround him and his business. He is better able to capitalize his ability, his knowledge, his industry, and to profit personally through their exercise. Success in dairying depends upon two things, both of which the farmer can control with much more certainty than he can control anything connected with the grain business. Those things are (1) grading-up the herd for better production, and (2) raising feed.

There is little of the element of chance or luck in grading up a herd. The farmer has it within his power to plan ahead and then to make his plans come true. It is a matter of study, intelligent effort and persistence. But note this:—If every one of these were to be present in abundance they could not prevent a grain farmer losing everything in a hail storm, a drouth, a week of hot winds or a chin's bug raid.

Raising feed has more of the element of chance than the work of grading up the herd, but the element of chance is much less than where all the eggs are in the grain farming basket, and gradually the farmer can almost completely control the production of the feeds his dairy cows will need. Corn for silage is a reasonably certain crop when there has been intelligent seed selection for early maturity and when the cultivation has been adequate. Clover and alfalfa are crops in which not much chance is taken. They respond to proper effort. The combination of corn, silage and alfalfa or clover make up the feed ration. The dairy farmer can grade up his cows and provide his season's feed, and laugh at the seasons and elements because, through study and planning and effort he can beat them.

Hence the good business proposition of getting into dairying. Our community cannot get onto a dairy basis in a month or a year. It is something we have to grow into, but we can grow into it fast when once we start and the effort will pay nice dividends as we go along.

There is no guess work about this. There are hundreds of dairy communities in Minnesota and Wisconsin and everyone can testify to the truth of the business certainty of the industry. Every such community started from just as small beginnings as are those with which our community will start, and every one of them started from an original condition of grain farming.

These dairy communities know nothing about crop failures and care less. The farmers there have long since ceased to worry about them. They have mastered the conditions which surround their business and while the grain farmers are accumulating mortgages, the farmers of dairy communities are building up deposits in the banks.

Let's consider this matter of getting the farming of our community on a basis where the farmer, instead of being at the mercy of the elements, can exercise some measure of control over them.

STATE PRIMARY OF MINNESOTA ELECTS WOMAN

Mrs. Anna Dickie Olesen Is Far
In Lead of Opponent, Receives
Democratic Nomination

(By the Associated Press)
St. Paul, Minn., June 21.—Charles E. Davis, for twenty years congressman from the Third Minnesota district, apparently has been renominated over Reuben Thoren of Stillwater, who had the endorsement of the district Republican convention.

Returns from Monday's primary were available today from all but two small precincts out of the 276 in the district. The reported precincts gave Davis a lead of 210, the count for the 274 precincts standing Davis, 20,105; Thoren, 19,895. One missing precinct is in Nicollet county, where Davis has been leading, and the other is in Rice county, where Thoren has a two-to-one lead. The missing precincts are small and it is not believed they will change the standing materially.

St. Paul, Minn., June 21.—Returns from Minnesota's state-wide primary Monday were sufficiently near completion today to show that Mrs. Anna Dickie Olesen, was far in the lead of Thomas Meighen, her nearest opponent for the Democratic nomination for United States senator.

The nomination of Mrs. Olesen as the senatorial standard bearer for the Democrats next fall will call for an expression of sentiment in regard to sending a woman to the senate, in addition to issues involving the national administration.

Frank B. Kellogg, junior senator from Minnesota and one of President Harding's stalwarts in the senate who was renominated in the Republican primary over Ernest Lundeen, will face the political barrier with Mrs. Olesen next fall along with Henrik Shipstead, the farmer-labor nominee. Senator Kellogg remained in Washington during the primary campaign leaving his candidacy in the hands of the regular Republican organization.

Mrs. Olesen was endorsed by the Democratic state convention as the organization candidate for the senate. Whether the northwest will give the senate its first woman member will be answered at the polls in Minnesota next November.

Miss Grace F. Kaercher of Ortonville was the Republican nominee for clerk of the supreme court. Governor J. A. O. Freus and other Republican state officers were renominated.

Belated returns today from seven missing precincts were expected to determine the outcome of the race between Representative Charles E. Davis and Reuben G. Thoren for the Republican nomination in the Third Minnesota congressional district, the only important contest in Monday's state-wide primary election remaining undecided.

Davis had a lead of 125 votes this morning, 269 precincts out of 276 giving him 19,928 and Thoren 19,803. The final count is expected to be so close that the losing candidate probably will ask for a recount.

Davis has represented the Third district since 1903. Thoren was endorsed by the district Republican convention.

GAINS IN LATE RETURNS
St. Paul, Minn., June 21.—Mrs. Anna Dickie Olesen was maintaining her lead over Thomas J. Meighen for the Democratic senatorial nomination in the additional scattering returns received late today from Monday's state-wide primary election.

When 1,936 of the state's 3,438 precincts had reported this afternoon, the count on this contest stood: Olesen 19,255; Meighen 14,817, Morris 7,817.

The same precincts gave, for governor, Democratic, Indrehus, 22,543; Birmingham, 15,111, and for attorney general, Democratic, Seigel 13,065 and Dorn 18,078.

MINNESOTA TO HAVE BIG CROP REPORTS SHOW

(By the Associated Press)
St. Paul, Minn., June 21.—Recent rains throughout the state have assured Minnesota of the greatest crop in years, Oscar H. Smith, commissioner of immigration declared today in the weekly crop report of his department.

Barring any damage from rust, hot winds or blight, the crop-raising sections should have an enormous yield, Mr. Smith said, adding, however, that the crucial period approaching may affect some change in the situation.

"Crop conditions in the territory south of a line ranging eastward and westward from the northern boundary of Sibley county are declared to be the most optimistic in several years," the report says.

"The same confidence is expressed in reports received from the central and northern parts of the state."

Commissioner Smith declared that the farmers throughout the state appear very optimistic and not at all fearful of the approaching crucial period.

J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture, declared today that on a recent visit to the agricultural districts he found the farmers to be the most optimistic of any time in his experience.

TWO CHARGED FOR KILLINGS

Stark County Farmer to be Arraigned Tomorrow

Dickinson, N. D., June 21.—Joseph Massey, 65, who shot and fatally wounded his son-in-law, Frans Dolliver at the Dolliver farm north of Richardson, will be arraigned Wednesday. A coroner's inquest was held yesterday.

Massey, in jail here, expressed regret that he had killed his son-in-law. He declared, however, that Dolliver had treated his family brutally and had beaten his wife, Massey's daughter.

Advices from Medora said that Nick Strichynski, farmer of near Gorham, Billings county, will be arraigned today on a charge of killing John Sabitura, 46, a neighbor, during a quarrel. After the shooting Strichynski gave himself up. Sabitura's body was taken to Belvidere and funeral services held there Monday. He leaves a widow.

Strichynski claims that Sabitura hit him over the head with a beer bottle and threatened to kill him. He said that at Sabitura advanced towards him he fired two shots with his revolver, which entered Sabitura's body.

HARDING SAYS SHIP SUBSIDY CANNOT WAIT

President Asserts That Public Interest Will Not Permit
Postponement

(By the Associated Press)
Washington, June 21.—Confidence that a "very favorable reaction" will be encountered by members of congress who take the administration's ship subsidy bill before their constituents prior to its consideration by the house is expressed by President Harding in a letter to Representative Mondell of Wyoming, the Republican leader, giving approval to the plan to press the legislation to a vote immediately after the tariff bill has been sent to conference by the house.

Presenting a detailed statement of reasons favoring passage of the bill at this session, the president in his letter made public today, declared the public interest would not permit of postponement until the December session in view of the loss entailed by the government's ship holdings which the bill is designed eventually to get into private hands.

Despite "every drive toward economy," this loss, the president pointed out, amounted to more than fifty million dollars during the fiscal year now closing.

Asserting the question was "not to be prejudiced by the old and worn-out cry against subsidy" Mr. Harding urged that if that was used "to awaken public hostility" it be emphasized that "we are subsidizing today by paying losses of fifty millions a year for inadequate service of no permanence while the pending measure contemplates no such outlay."

The two outstanding problems to be met in the legislation he said, are the handling of "our shipping assets to the

EXPECT RECORD CROWD TO MAKE NEW SALEM TRIP

Call Issued For More Cars By Bismarck Rotarians For Dairy Tour Tomorrow

Members of the Bismarck Rotary club committee were scrambling for automobiles today to take 160 farmers of Bismarck county to the big picnic at New Salem tomorrow. The registration early today far exceeded that of last year, and a record attendance is expected at the second annual picnic and demonstration of the New Salem Holstein dairy circuit.

H. S. Dohler, in charge of transportation for the Rotarians, today issued an appeal to people to furnish automobiles to take visitors to New Salem. The Bismarck caravan will leave The Tribune corner at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning. Auto owners who find this evening they can make the trip are asked to notify Mr. Dohler, and to be on hand sharp at 7 tomorrow morning.

The Bismarck contingent will furnish an orchestra for a dance to be given in New Salem as a part of the entertainment for the visitors. Practically all members of the newly organized Bismarck and Kidder county Holstein circuits are expected to make the trip.

COMING FROM NORTH

A horde of farmers from the vicinity of Van Hook and Stash will be among the pilgrims to the New Salem dairy circuit tomorrow, according to the report of W. F. Reynolds, field agent for R. P. Flint, state dairy commissioner. Mr. Reynolds, who organized a new dairy circuit in Mountrail county, reports that there is unusual interest in dairying among the farmers in that section and that they are going to attend the New Salem dairy in large numbers.

NEW SALEM READY

New Salem, N. D., June 21.—New Salem is all ready for the descent of caravans of motor cars upon the community tomorrow, when the second annual demonstration of the work of the New Salem Holstein dairy circuit is held. Members of the circuit are co-operating with business men in taking care of the huge crowds expected and to make the visit entertaining as well as instructive.

KILLDEER FARMER DIES OVERCOME BY WELL GAS

Killdeer, N. D., June 21.—Edwin Rychnar, 36, farmer, died of asphyxiation in a well which he and a brother-in-law, Richard Olson were digging for a neighbor. Rychnar clinging to knots in a rope was being lowered in the well by Olson and when about half way he slipped to be hauled up. He was drawn practically to the surface when overcome by the fumes his grip on the rope relaxed and he dropped to the bottom. The accumulation of gas in the well was so strong it was impossible to descend to his aid, even with the use of army gas masks which ex-service men produced. The body was recovered four hours later. He leaves a wife and six children. His father, a brother and a sister reside at Little Falls, Minn.

This statement was made by C. Warren Cole, advance representative for Mr. Wischaupt, before the Town Criers club last night, to emphasize the statements he had made that the lectures of Mr. Wischaupt had aroused great enthusiasm in all towns in which he had been.

Mr. Wischaupt's first talk is Monday night. There is one talk each night during the week. He comes with recommendations from many leading authorities in business and advertising to speak on salesmanship and personal efficiency.

Mr. Wischaupt is endorsed by the Town Criers club.

Visit Laundry

The Town Criers meeting was held at the Capital Steam Laundry, being one of the series of industrial visits of the club to learn more about Bismarck institutions. The visitors were shown through the laundry by William Couch and Birlea Ward, and expressed amazement at the intricacies of modern laundry operations. They learned that not only must a laundry have thousands of dollars of modern machinery but must continually add new machinery to meet the changes in styles of clothes. An example was given of the new negligee roll collar that has appeared recently. A special machine must be used to preserve the roll. They found out that a laundryman must not only know something about handling machinery, but must understand textiles, know the effect of chemical reactions and in addition use painstaking care to keep the thousands of pieces in proper order during the processes. An appetizing lunch was served by Mr. Couch and Mr. Ward.

Dedication After July 15

The dedicatory exercises planned for the new Missouri river bridge will not be held July 15, the date tentatively fixed, it is stated by members of the joint Bismarck-Mandan committee. It is said to be an impossibility to complete the arrangements by that time. Uncertainty of the time of completion of the bridge also is a factor.

ELEVATORS ON MISSOURI PLAN OF MONT. MAN

Commissioner of Agriculture Comes Here to Study Transportation Methods

Chester C. Davis, Commissioner of Agriculture of the State of Montana, is in Bismarck today conferring with officials of the Benton Packet Company in the hope of solving a transportation problem of certain Montana counties of the upper Missouri country.

These counties, according to Mr. Davis are becoming well developed in the production of grain, but are not reached by a railroad. They are fast reaching a point where it is not practical for the stock of the country to use the total production in feed and some outlet for the surplus, and for grain that does not lend themselves to feeding, with profit.

It is Mr. Davis' plan, if men familiar with river transportation think this is a feasible procedure and will cooperate with him in the project, to erect a line of elevators along the Missouri River in these counties, the elevators to be properly insured and bonded, so that financial organizations will advance money upon the grain stored therein. These elevators will be of sufficient capacity to hold all of the surplus grain of the district.

Shulage to these elevators will be accomplished during the winter, according to the plan of Mr. Davis and the grain will be shipped down the Missouri River at flood tide in the spring, at which time the Missouri is navigable for up into the Montana country. Barges, towed by the river boats, will be utilized to transport the grain.

Railroad transportation is available at certain points in Montana, with more direct transportation available by bringing the grain to North Dakota points.

The Benton Packet Company, which operates the ferry across the Missouri River and between Bismarck and Mandan, is located the farthest up the

The company, at the present time is engaged in freighting coal down the Missouri to Fort Yates and other points not reached by a railroad. The company owns a number of river boats, all of them capable of being used as tow boats for barges.

The plan, which Mr. Davis is proposing to use in the transportation of grain from Montana counties to railroad points, has also been under consideration by men in North Dakota as a method of shipping out clay products of the upper Missouri country and sending this product down the river to Sioux City, Omaha or other points.

FLINTS SLOGAN IS THAT "CREAM EQUAL CASH"

All sorts of Efforts Are Made To Attract Cream Trade To Certain Places

Cash and cream should be synonymous in the opinion of R. F. Flint, State Dairy Commissioner, who has all the troubles that are able to pile themselves on the shoulders of one man in enforcing the North Dakota laws relative to the dairy industries. Throughout the past summer Mr. Flint has a large number of cases in which the question of competition that might drive out a buyer is uppermost.

Mr. Flint's slogan that cream equals cash has been worked out in the course of the days he has spent to prevent dealers from taking an unfair advantage in their attempts to secure the largest possible amount of trade. Incidentally, Mr. Flint is working along the same lines of business as those laid down by the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World in their better business campaigns.

All sorts of efforts are being made to attract the cream trade to certain places according to Mr. Flint. Most of these efforts are upon the barter and exchange basis, declares Mr. Flint and not good merchandising.

One of the methods adopted is that of offering a prize for the largest amount of butterfat, or largest percentage of butter in a patrons milk for a certain period.

Every effort being made to get away from an actual business basis for the selling of dairy products is being received with suspicion to the Dairy Commissioner, who wants cream to be just as merchantable as gold dollars.

TO YOU WHO ARE LEAVING THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

JUST HOW ANXIOUS ARE YOU TO GET AHEAD? Your ambition says you are willing to go to any honorable extreme, but it is by your actions that the world will know what you really are. The poorest workman in the hardest, lowest-paid job probably once had ambitions just as lofty as those you now entertain. But he failed to take any steps toward realizing those ambitions. He made plans, but he always put off making the start. He waited for a fortune to fall in his lap. He isn't waiting any longer. He realizes his mistake as he faces the daily treadmill of existence. It is now too late for him to turn back.

Elaborate Home Wedding for Popular Local Girl

A wedding of much local interest was solemnized this afternoon when Miss Esther Semling of this city became the bride of Walter L. Varco of Sidney, Mont. The ceremony took place at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Taylor, 1011 Fifth street, in the presence of intimate friends of the bride.

Promptly at 5 o'clock Miss Mabel Nathan took her place at the piano. With the opening chords of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, the bride, together with her attendant, came down the wide open stairway. Her wedding gown was of ivory taffeta, paneled with sheer white organdy and lace; her veil of maline was held in place by a narrow pearl bandeau, and she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses. Miss Esther Taylor, as bridesmaid, wore crisp, Alice blue organdy, with a corsage of deep pink rosebuds and Marguerite daisies.

The wedding reception was met at the altar by the bridegroom and his attendant, Harold V. Semling, a brother of the bride. The full Episcopal service was read by Rev. T. Dewhurst, rector of the local parish, assisted by Rev. Taylor.

Throughout the service Miss Nathan softly played McDowell's "To a Wild Rose."

Bowls of pink snapdragons and roses formed the decorations for both living and dining rooms, and the improvised altar at the south end of the living room was flanked with tall baskets of gladioli.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served after which the couple left on Number Four for Minneapolis and Austin, Minnesota, the former home of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Varco is a local girl with a host of friends who wish her much happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Varco will be at home to their friends after July 5.

Modern Method of Home Canning Berries

This method prevents "foaming" and spoiling of berries. Sterilize jars in boiling water. You will find that the berries have shrunk. One jar of the berries and fill up other jars. Pour enough syrup back into the jars to cover berries, but do not fill jars too full. (Keep syrup at 150 degrees while waiting to be put back.) Wipe off the mouth and neck of the jar, and put the top on tightly. Put jars back into water, bring water to boil and keep jars in boiling water for fifteen minutes.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

FABULOUS RICHES

Thirty gold coins, of the first series of gold coins ever minted by man, are dug up by American archaeologists in the buried ruins of Sardis ancient city in Asia Minor.

These 30 coins were minted by Croesus, last of the kings of Lydia and first big international banker.

You have heard the expression, "Rich as Croesus."

John D. Rockefeller could buy and sell Croesus at least a dozen times over. Yet Croesus' name endures on through the ages as the greatest symbol of wealth, in all important languages.

It was Croesus' ability in handling money rather than his actual cash, that made his wealth proverbial.

The psychology of this is that people are less interested in possessing wealth than in getting more. That was Croesus' way. He could star with a shoestring and keep trading until he had a million.

You see this principle at work in Henry Ford's appeal to the popular imagination.

There are several men in the world with about as much money as Ford. Yet they are seldom heard of.

Ford's wealth would not fire the average brain if he had inherited it. The glamour that surrounds his bank account is due to its being built up from practically nothing. Ford, you know, only a few years ago, ran a bicycle repair shop.

People, in their mad scramble for wealth, are more interested in accumulating more and more than in reaching any definite fortune. When it comes to wealth, most of us are insane—with a pronounced wealth-phobia.

Croesus became king when he was 35. This was in the sixth century B. C. He was a great conqueror and specialized at collecting tribute.

Solon, famous Athenian sage and law-giver, was asked by Croesus: "Should not my vast wealth make me the happiest of men?"

Solon answered that no man is really happy who is yet alive. This, of course, was ridiculous cynicism—the "sour grapes" line of Big Talk frequently heard from financial failures today.

Socrates, the truly wise, if he had lived in Croesus' time and could have looked into the future: 2500 years, would have said to Croesus:

"Money and gold are not the real wealth. Far ahead, in the year 1922, I see American workers as far as money is concerned, you would call them impoverished."

"Yet they have porcelain bathtubs, automobiles, choice foods brought from the far corners of the earth, and thousands of other comforts and conveniences—the real wealth of life—denied to Croesus. And you, mighty Croesus, would give half your kingdom for a little device called a radio, which poor boys of the year 1922 will make for a few dollars."

SHORTAGE

Europe is growing less food. Its area of winter wheat for the 1921-1922 season is 1,399,000 acres less than last year, in eight countries so far reported. This is the word, to our Department of Agriculture, from its agents.

Such an item tells you more about European conditions than a good many columns of cabled political events.

So goes the food supply, so goes everything.

FLAPPERS

Dr. Dudley A. Sargent, head of the Sargent School for Physical Education, a girls' institution, rallies to the defense of the flapper, with this new line of thought:

"Who designs the styles that young women wear, and whom do they dress to please?"

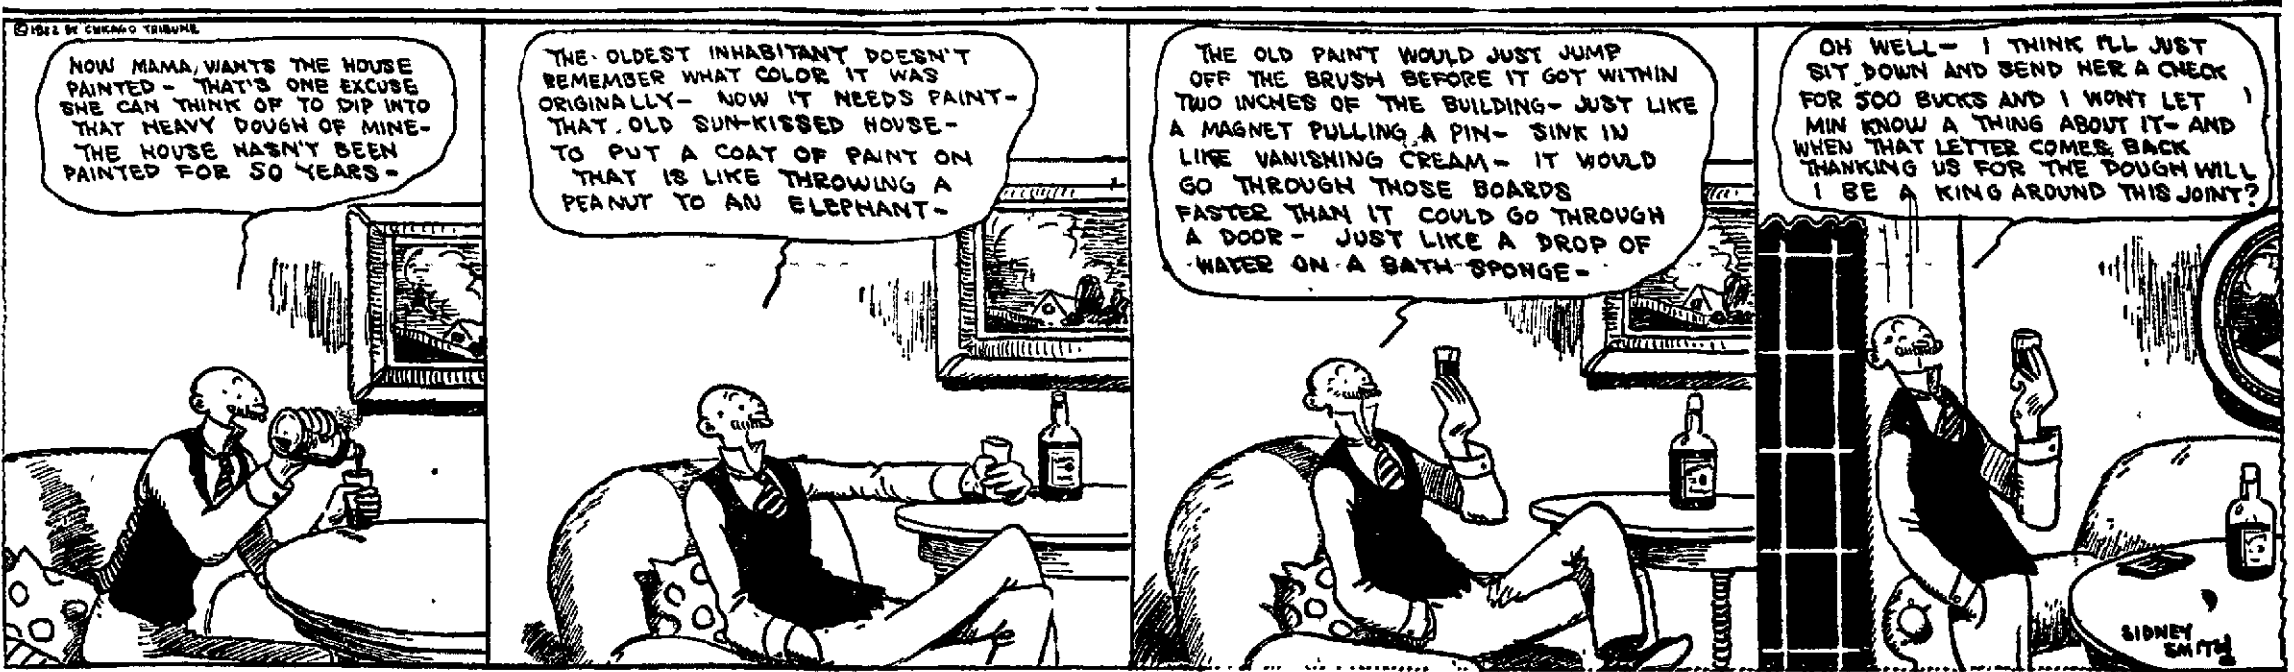

The obvious answer to both is, "Men."
Criticism of women's dress should be directed, first of all, at its male designers. As usual, blame is not placed on the original source.

STIFLING

What was the hottest day you ever experienced? You might be interested to compare it with the temperature at Greenland Ranch in Death Valley, California, which the weather bureau announces is the hottest place in the United States and probably on earth.

It is a cold summer when the thermometer there does not hover around 125 degrees in the shade. And the temperature got 9 degrees hotter than that on the record day, July 10, 1913.

You have, since you were a child, been hearing about "hell on earth." The weather bureau seems to have found it in Death Valley.

WHY?

If raised on a farm, you know that crops require at least 15 to 20 inches of rainfall a year, without irrigation aid.

At Greenland Ranch, in Death Valley, rainfall averages less than two inches a year. The only nearby water is from springs. It comes up 100 leagues hot.

Despite these handicaps, irrigation is carried on and four crops of alfalfa a year are raised on the 70 acres of Greenland Ranch.

A philosopher would see, in this, demonstration of man's ability to overcome any obstacles. The rest of us wonder why in tarnation any one wants to live in such a place, especially doing farm work.

GERMANY

C. J. Warren, of the Remington Typewriter Company, scoffs at the general notion that Germany is a vast beehive of industry running full blast, night and day.

After a long inspection visit in Germany, Warren reports that: "While, of course, different industries varied, it seemed to me that the country as a whole was producing about 35 per cent of capacity."

That is not a very pleasing report for the international committee of creditors.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

SULKING GREED

The St. Lawrence-Seaway project has met a temporary reverse in the refusal of the Canadian government to negotiate a treaty with the United States under which this joint enterprise may proceed. At first blush this unexpected Canadian posture might seem like the seaway's doom—because, of course, practically the entire undertaking follows the international boundary and its waters, and the co-operation of Canada is as essential as the initiative of the United States. But in analysis of the Canadian viewpoint promptly indicates that sectional prejudice has ruled Premier Mackenzie King in his present attitude, and it is no more conceivable that Eastern Canada can permanently defeat a transportation development which would be surpassing advantage to Central and Western Canada, than that—on our own side of the border—the Eastern United States can selfishly stand against the obvious welfare of the great Central West. Montreal evidently feels about this matter as New York does. The Canadian water power and port interests centering in Montreal fear this potential competition which is wrapped up in the seaway plans; therefore, with a parochial selfishness distinctly reminiscent of New York's attitude toward this same project, they think to wall off Central and Western Canada against expansion and advantage in agriculture and industry. Since Montreal controls the votes upon which the Mackenzie King administration depends for its continuing authority, Montreal has no difficulty for the moment in committing Canada against the seaway. But unsound political economy cannot permanently stand. On our own state of the border, New York might succeed in postponing for several years the necessary Federal endowment to build this link which will connect the Great Lakes with the Atlantic, but, sooner or later, metropolitan selfishness in this respect would become so transparent that it would cease to fool anybody. Sooner or later, these great central-northwestern areas—which have willingly borne their share of every Federal expenditure to further seaboard interests—would make it politically plain that their rights must be given some consideration. It is no more conceivable that Montreal can permanently defeat Canadian co-operation in the creation of the seaway than that New York could permanently block it in the United States. Public policy cannot be ruled indefinitely on either side of the Canadian-American boundary by entrenched and sulked greed. —Grand Rapids, Mich., Herald.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

The Twins hunted everywhere for Mr. Peersabout, the lost Man-in-the-Moon. They were asking the wood-folk when Scramble Squirrel came bounding along and was just about to shun him up to his own front door when he stopped to listen.

"What's it all about?" he asked. And so the whole thing had to be explained over again.

"Say," said Scramble, "I've got an idea. What does Mr. Peersabout look like?"

Nancy told him.

"And does he keep looking for something all the time?" asked Scramble excitedly.

"Dead he does," remarked Nick. "Why, Mr. Squirrel, did you see him?"

"I'm not sure," declared Scramble mysteriously.

"You see," he said importantly, "I have cousin who live in the park in the city, and every often in so often I go to visit them. If you come with me I think I can show you Mr. Peersabout."

Away went Scramble like the wind, followed by the Twins in their magic Green Shoes.

At last they came to the city and soon reached the park.

"There," said Scramble, pointing proudly toward the center of a smooth green lawn.

In one hand the figure carried a map of the world and with the other hand he was shading his eyes as if he were looking for something very important.

"Scramble, dear," said Nancy in a kind but disappointed voice. "That's not Mr. Peersabout. Did you see what it says. It says 'Columbus discovering America.'"

"Well, I declare," said Scramble. "I shouldn't think he'd need to look so hard. It's right under his nose."

A THOUGHT

Through Thy precepts I get understanding: therefore I hate every false way. —Psalm 119:104.

In the exact proportion in which men are capable of warm affection, common-sense and self-command, and are educated to love, to think and to endure, they become noble, live happily, die calmly, are remembered with perpetual honor by their race, and for the perpetual good of it. —John Ruskin.

TODAY'S WORD

Today's word is AMBIGUOUS. It is pronounced am-bi-gu-ous, with accent on the second syllable.

It means doubtful, uncertain, capable of being understood in more than one way.

If comes from—Latin "ambiguo" to wander about.

It's used like this—"Recent rulings by the Interstate Commerce Commission have been criticized somewhat on the ground that they are ambiguous."

STAR FINDS SPIRITIST SCENES EASY ON MAKEUP

Having to appear in a picture where there are many ghastly scenes, much rubbing and blacking up, is extremely easy on the makeup, according to Alice Lake, whose latest starring picture, "The Hole in the Wall," a Maxwell Karger production for Metro comes tonight to the Capitol theater.

In this picture dealing with the machinations of a gang who use the trick paraphernalia of lake spiritualists, Miss Lake, as the medium, appears in many of the scenes robed in the gauzy style of such artists and in accordance with the story, with her face covered.

"Why, my make-up box almost became a stranger to me during the time we were shooting those scenes," declared Miss Lake.

"The Hole in the Wall" was adapted by Joe Mathis from the play of Fred Jackson.

WISE WOMEN

A famous medical man of ancient times states regarding his writings that they were but a collection of knowledge obtained from the "Wise Women."

Do you realize that in those times the women, and not the men, knew about the healing properties of medicinal plants, roots and herbs? From the earliest times, women had a knowledge of the treatment of disease and of the healing merit of roots and herbs.

JURY TAKES SNAP JUDGMENT AND SO GUILTY YOUTH GOES TO DEATH

By Alexander Herman

In Switzerland, France, Sweden and other European countries the law provides for specific indemnities which are to be paid to innocent persons convicted of crime. But what fair restitution can be made for conviction followed by execution? What reparation could be made for the legal murder of Neil Shumway?

Neil Shumway was a young Illinois farm hand. Tired of his job, he went to Nebraska.

There he lived with his brother for a time. But the youngster wanted to support himself.

He began looking for work. After much tramping around he found a farmer named Martin who needed a hand.

The man was a hard taskmaster. The boy did not like the idea of working for him. But there was no other work, so he accepted the job and moved out to the farm.

Is Poor Witness
A shore time later, Martin's wife was found murdered.

The boy was accused of the crime. Martin was the chief witness against him.

Terrified, Neil made a poor impression on the jurors. They were not satisfied with his story.

After short deliberation, they turned in a verdict of "guilty."

The boy was taken back to his cell shrieking. Efforts to appeal his case failed.

He protested of innocence and praised by women of all ages. It is prepared from roots and herbs having medicinal action of great value in the treatment of troubles women so often have.

MANDAN CAST IS APPLAUDED

Performance of "Peg O' My Heart" Appreciated

"Peg O' My Heart," played by a Mandan cast drew a crowd that filled St. Mary's auditorium last night. The audience appeared to thoroughly enjoy the play, one of those simple Irish love stories that combines a tear with a laugh.

For a group of budding young actors and actresses, they held their audience well. Mrs. Doris Alair Golden who took the roll of Peg, took the center of the stage from the time she appeared at the aristocratic Chichester home with her bundles and "dawn," until the curtain dropped.

Allison Cary in the part of Aleric, the snobbish, effeminate English cousin, brought laugh after laugh from his

BABE RUTH IS SUSPENDED AND GIVEN LACING

Ban Johnson President of American League, Assails Attitude of Ball Player

"MUST BEHAVE HIMSELF"

Salary of Babe $46,200 a Year, Johnson's Action Dis-closes

(By the Associated Press)
Chicago, June 21.—Babe Ruth's argument with Umpire Dineen yesterday before the Cleveland-New York contest will keep him out of the game two days in addition to the three days suspension imposed yesterday, President Ban Johnson of the American League announced today. Ruth, consequently will not be able to play until Sunday.

President Johnson increased the home run king's suspension, originally three days, for disputing a decision made by Dineen in Monday's game at Cleveland to five days when he received a long report from the umpire today detailing the remarks made by the outfielder yesterday when ordered off the field in compliance with Mr. Johnson's first ruling.

Mr. Johnson announced that Ruth is suspended without pay and that this feature of the decision will cost Babe $1,500, or $300 a day which was said by the American league president to be the player's salary.

"Babe Ruth is going to behave himself or I'll keep him out of the game all summer," Mr. Johnson said in making known the decision.

Umpire Dineen in the report which brought Ruth's original three-day suspension said that the player had called him one of the vilest of names. In the report received today the umpire stated that Ruth came to him before yesterday's game and repeated the epithet, adding several other profane words to it. When Dineen resented the insult a fist fight was averted only by the intervention of Tris Speaker, "Stuffy" McInnis and other Cleveland players who led Ruth away.

Johnson Wrathful.
"There is no player in the American league who can call one of my umpires names like that in such a disgraceful manner on the ball field and get away with it," said Mr. Johnson. "I want Babe Ruth to understand that right now and here he is going to behave himself or I'll keep him out of the game the rest of the summer. Such disgraceful actions are not going to be permitted and the sooner he understands it, the better."

The umpires are in charge of the ball games and their authority is going to be respected by every man in the league."

YANKEES BREAK LOSING STREAK

(By the Associated Press)
Chicago, June 21.—Without Babe Ruth and battling to emerge from the slump that cost them their lead in the American league race, the Yankees took the third game of the series from Cleveland and ended a losing streak of eight games. Sam Jones was rushed to the rescue in the eighth when Joe Bush faltered and checked the Indians, enabling the Yanks to squeeze out a six to five victory.

Before the game yesterday Ruth renewed the argument with Umpire Dineen that resulted in his banishment Monday and the pair nearly came to blows. The slugger has been suspended for three days by President Ban Johnson for his outburst on Monday, making the third time this season he has been under official ban. His first and not long ago he drew a brief lay off, was fined and deprived of his captaincy for throwing dirt in an umpire's face.

The Yanks failed to regain any of their lost ground in the pennant hunt as the flying St. Louis Browns slugged four of Connie Mack's twirlers and won 7-3, from the Mackmen.

Cy Coble's dashing Tigers nosed the Red Sox 9-8 in another slug-fest. Burns, Boston first sacker, led the onslaught with a single, double and two homers.

Red Barber weakened in the thirteenth inning of a sensational battle with Washington and the Senators put over three runs to win from Chicago 9-8.

Johnny Couch held Boston to two hits, the first of which came in the eighth and Cincinnati shut out the Braves 2-0 in the only National league game played.

Couch was knocking at the door of fame against Boston, for seven innings, he did not permit a Brave to reach first base but in the eighth Cruise and Ford touched him for singles, the only hits made off of him. He had perfect control and did not walk a man and the support behind him was perfect.

The Cleveland-Yankee game was so bitterly fought that the players were wrestling with Umpires Nallin and Dineen over decisions of the pair. After the game police escorted them from the field.

Kenneth Williams, the home run hitter of the St. Louis Browns, slugged out his eighth home run, driving in the season's eighth run, against the Philadelphia Athletics with Eckert on the hill.

Billy Evans Says

"Babe" Ruth has given up any hopes that he may have had of breaking his 1921 record of 59 home runs.

"I don't know how many home runs I will need. It may be twenty and it may be forty. Whatever it is I will make them. I will still be the home-run king at the close of the 1922 season."

It is a matter of record that nothing helps the batting eye as much as real pitching in actual competition. Babe did a lot of practice hitting between the opening of the season and the raising of his suspension, but the old batting eye wasn't properly trimmed.

Babe soon discovered that the pitching he had faced in batting practice in no way compared to the real stuff. As a result he was slow in hitting his stride.

Recently in St. Louis, Babe cracked out his sixth home run of the year, his third in three days. It was a terrific drive that cleared the right field wall by thirty feet.

Just before the game started the next day I remarked to Babe, "What about breaking the old mark of 59 home runs?"

He smiled broadly and replied, "I have just about decided that 59 home runs is going to stand for 1922. I had hoped that I might smash it, but have decided it is a bit too much for me to shoot at."

I agreed with Babe that to break his mark of 59 homers after a six weeks' suspension was "practically an impossibility. However, don't get the impression that Babe is ready to turn his home-run crown over to someone else."
